Huron to test Mini-Sewer fate

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Huron Township residents will find a temporary reprieve from the not-so-mini headaches they've encountered over the Mini-Sewer snafu that's embroiling Van Buren Township as well now that they've cancelled, at least until after Oct. 31, a special millage election.

The election, scheduled for yesterday (Tuesday) would have decided how Huron residents would pay for their involvement in a $106 million scaled-down version of the Super-Sewer.

"The people involved here don't want to hold a millage election until the suit is settled."

– Ralph Dugan
Huron Township Supervisor

The millage would have asked voters for a 4-mill levy over the next 15 years, the time expected it will take them to pay for their Mini-Sewer.

In May, the township's attorney, Deborah LaBelle, filed a federal lawsuit on behalf of Huron and Van Buren townships against Wayne County, Flat Rock, Brownstown and the Environmental Protection Agency to block any further development of the Mini-Sewer, including their own participation, until extensive studies can be done on the project.

On October 31, Federal Court Judge Phillip Pratt can issue a summary judgement that would essentially decide Huron and Van Buren's fate or he could call for a trial.

Regardless of the outcome, Huron supervisor Ralph Dugan is pleased that at least they'll have their day in court.

"The people involved here don't want to hold a millage election until the suit is settled," he said last week. "We had a special meeting one month ago and discussed it."

Dugan said even if a millage election was held, it would not pass because residents have previously indicated that they would vote it down.

If that is the case, and the court orders a millage election, then the township would have no alternative than to increase water and sewage rates to pay for their Mini-Sewer involvement.

Residents are already assessed $260 in water rates for 19,000 gallons per quarter.

With the Mini-Sewer payment tacked on, average bills would rise to $620, one of the highest rates in the metro area, Dugan said.

"We already pay outrageous rates at this time," Dugan said, who has been quarreling with the EPA for years since his involvement with the ill-fated project.

"Van Buren doesn't even qualify for the third phase of federal funding."

Apparently, Van Buren has not been cited for polluting, a requirement for federal funding during the third phase. Its loss of federal money could mean an increase in it own payments and an increase in residential water billing.

At the helm of the dispute, according to LaBelle, is the lack of an Environmental Impact Study (EIS) for the eight communities involved in the once 27 community Super-Sewer project.

Because a lot of factors may have been altered when the scaled-down version was conceived and since the 1979 EIS concerned only 27 communities and not a smaller number, officials demanded a thorough study to determine the effects on the environment and to examine alternatives.

"Our position," LaBelle said, "is that they (EPA) never did an EIS. There were limited alternatives to a sewer that covers 27 communities but with eight, a lot more options could be found."

The result of the lack of an EIS means that outfall of sewage going into Lake Erie is close to the City of Monroe's water intake valve, LaBelle said.

Potential pollution and "disaster" could occur if the water treatment plant malfuntions.

"They (EPA) didn't even consider the disruption of habitat or that the pipes cut through agricultural areas--there are some burial grounds there-,"LaBelle said. "If you raise these concerns in an environmental impact hearing, you can mitigate these concerns."

Unfortunately, she said, no impact hearings were conducted for the eight municipalities and the issue must be addressed in court.

Also at issue among township residents is the lack of an estimate of how much money it will cost communities for their involvement.

Wayne County will charge operating and maintenance costs in addition to the sewage costs already expected to be assessed to customers.

Even worse, according to Sarah Jane Privatera, a leading opponent of Mini-Sewer and Flat Rock resident, is the notification that within six to ten years, the treatment plant that the communities will pay for over the next 15 years will reach its 12 million gallon-per-day capacity.

"We're going to lay 55 miles of interceptor to the Brownstown plant and it's going to be at capacity before we're even through paying for it?" Privatera questioned.

Soil removal halted by council

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

A permit requested by the East River Contracting Company for removal of sand and topsoil off 50 acres at Barth and Hannan roads was denied by the city council at its Sept. 3 meeting.

The move came after complaints by citizens, most of whom lived adjacent to the area to be excavated, were lodged at a public hearing held Aug. 26 and recommendations of denial by the city engineer and DPW director.

The original request for topsoil removal was submitted to the city clerk in Nov. 1984, according to records.

At that time, a review by the city's engineer and the Department of Public Works director recommended denial based upon a number of reasons.

The company, based in Grosse Ile, forwarded revised plans in May 1985 which were subsequently rejected by both departments.

A public hearing, as required by the charter, brought out more than 40 people, apparently contacted by letter by the clerk's office, who indicated opposition to the proposed 5-year sand excavation project.

Residents during that meeting told council members that they objected to the likelihood of increased truck traffic over the newly-paved Barth Road and the possibility of a hole or deeply-depressed area, caused by the sand removal, for a lengthy period of time.

Also questioned was the content of the material to be used to fill in the hole once excavation began or was completed, bringing to light the suggestion that the area might conceivably by used as the site for a landfill.

The property lies adjacent to a school and those students who live near the proposed excavation would have to pass by the area on their way to and from school, parents said.

Representatives of East River, in attendance during the public hearing, told the council that proper fencing of the area, as well as the possibility of future residential development, should dispel residents' fears.

Records of the city's engineering firm revealed that a recommendation for denial was based upon numerous factors.

The area is located in a residentially-zoned neighborhood.

Two weeks prior to the hearing, Barth Road was asphalted in one phase of the city's 1985 road paving program.

According to information received by the city clerk, the company had proposed to fill in the area with clay after sand removal began.

It is not know how this procedure would have taken place or whether East River Contracting would excavate portions of sand and immediately replace the resulting hole with clay.

According to Chapter IV, Article I, Sec. 4.28 E of the Romulus Zoning Ordinance , which outlines the procedure for issuing a sand and topsoil removal permit, a permit can not be issued until the city engineer establishes that soil removal will not be below the normal grade as established by the nearest existing or proposed street and that removal would not cause stagnant water to collect or leave the surface of the land.

Residents voiced their objections to the company's proposal, stating that the area would be lower than the surrounding land and that the area, once the sand was removed and replaced with clay, would be subject to flooding since the sand acted as an absorbing agent for water.

The ordinance also mandates that in the event that stripping or removal of topsoil continues more than 30 days, the operator "shall replace the stored topsoil over the stripped area as he progresses."

This provision, according to Linda Choate, the city clerk, is to insure that the excavated area isn't left exposed.

The company did not reveal plans to replace the topsoil in this manner and no stipulations were placed, Choate said, possibly because the proposal never reached that stage in discussions with the city council.

When questioned about the company's plans for excavation, East River Contracting Company vice-president Nancy A. Barson refused to comment.

Records of the city's engineering firm revealed that a recommendation for denial was based upon numerous factors, including the fact the Barth Road would be paved (at that time, it was not yet asphalted) and could not handle the anticipated truck traffic.

Keith W. Risdon, the engineer, also indicated that although the grades had been revised to eliminate excavation of topsoil within 100 feet of Hannan Road, as prescribed by the ordinance, the suggested grades would place the land 3.8 feet to 5.0 feet below the existing grades of the road.

Risdon also cited the resulting six-foot deep ditch at the edge of Hannan Road and seven-foot drop in grades from an adjacent house stemming from the proposed ditching and culvert relocation.

Risdon said that East River Contracting had not indicated how deep the excavation would be. Estimates indicated a depth of 17-18 feet of topsoil removal. Still others suggested at least 20 feet.

The grades suggested by the land surveyor's blueprints would, Risdon said, leave a "bowl" draining to the middle of the property.

Robert Plank, DPW director, issued a similar report recommending denial, citing also the increased dust that would result from the excavation.

East River Contracting has the option of returning to the city council for permit consideration, Choate said.

District, union reach accord

By CHRISTINE RIZK

After seven years without a signed agreement, the Romulus Board of Education and the local teachers' union have agreed on contract terms for five years.

The school board Tuesday night unanimously approved contractual terms for the district's 310 educators shortly after a meeting of the teachers' union voted 144-to-2 to accept the latest efforts by both to come to a settlement.

The move was heraled by Superintendent William Bedell as "subdued' and lending to a "general contentment". Bedell said Tuesday night that "the best contracts are those that leave you neither feeling depressed or elated."

"We can't feel it's a win but we can't feel it's a loss either."

– Superintendent William Bedell

Few people were in attendance for the verdict, which came after numerous standoffs between the board and the Romulus Education Association-Wayne County/Michigan Education Association National Education Association, the governing union for the district.

Terms of the contract, although not yet publicly released, are said to include a 5-year agreement encompassing both teacher wages and work days. Three years are retroactive.

The contract will expire Aug. 31, 1987, two years after the recent expiration of arbitrator's award to teachers in 1982.

The school calendar, according to Bedell at the meeting, will follow the same pattern as set forth in previous years with the exception of half-days the Monday after the first semester and on October 31.

A total of 182 instructional days will be provided for students with provisions for up to three additional days at the end of June, the traditional end of the school year, should buildings be shut down in the Winter.

In addition, the contract dealt with contract technicalities, known of which were available at presstime.

Chris Powers, president of the teachers' union, said Tuesday night that a lot of the original language presented to the board was "washed away" by the time terms were agreed upon.

Half-time and shared positions, early retirement incentives, increased salaries for summer school and driver education teachers were not addressed, she said.

"We can't feel it's a win but we can't feel it's a loss either," she said, voicing Bedell's sentiments.

Salary increases, which are expected to be incorporated into teacher paychecks beginning this Friday, include a 6.75 percent increase this year and the same for the 1986-87 school year.

Teachers will also continue to experience a 22 percent repayment from 1982 when the district experienced financial difficulties and subsequently decreased instructors' wages.

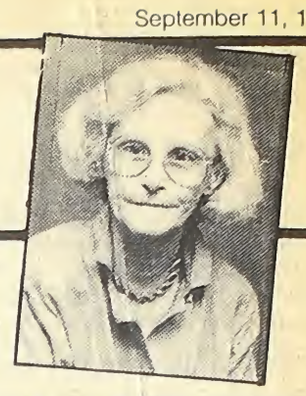

The increase in salary will be a first in three years.

Powers said the teachers "gained back their school district" with the contract agreement.

"People who work in education can't be treated as we were – teachers are the heart of the school district."

Randi Gross went back to Iowa for her high school reunion to a little town called Jordan, and it turned out to be one of the most memorable events of her life.

Jordan, Iowa, has a grain elevator, a church and six houses, but there were 360 people in attendance.

From 1922 to 1959, several of the communities joined together to consolidate the school district, and it was the graduates that came back to celebrate.

The keynote speaker was the first person to graduate in 1922 and among other alumni were Randi's father, who flew in from Arizona, and her 73-year-old uncle.

She met many of the people she grew up with – from Sunday School and Campfire Girls – and they shared memories and caught up on present day activities.

But the high point came when she won the door prize. For a lady whose main interest is dancing and the stage (she is the owner of Tanglefoot Dance Studio in Belleville), it was memento without a price – a brick from the old school building wrapped in a piece of the stage curtain.

City enters era of computers

The city council officially introduced an era of computers to city hall now that an agreement has been confirmed with Arizala Corporation of Ann Arbor to purchase computer hardware and software for various departments within city hall that according to some officials is "going to solve a lot of problems" with the backlog of paperwork. The city, back in July, undertook the task of chosing among the multitude of computer firms. After narrowing down the field, Arizala Corporation was selected to handle some of the computer needs of city departments.

Software implementation should be completed by July 1, 1986 by which time at least 15 areas will have computer hook-ups.

Van Born Road to be widened

The city council, at its Sept. 3 meeting, agreed to enter into a contract with the State of Michigan and Wayne County for resurfacing and widening of Van Born Road between Merriman and Middlebelt roads. The city's share of the cost is estimated at $21,750 although bids are up 19 percent and could cause the city's share to increase to $25,880, according to Wayne County figures.

Work should begin on widening and resurfacing sometime in the next few weeks according to the city clerk's office.

nization aimed at getting answers for communities like Van Buren and Huron before any more money is "sunk" into the project, said alternative E of the Super-Sewer EIS, is more suitable to their needs.

Alternative E, one of seven espouced in the Super-Sewer EIS, calls for the upgrading of existing plants, an option that Dugan has been expounding since Huron's involvement.

Currently, there exists a new plant in Flat Rock for which the township spent $13 million in federal and local money only to have the Federal Department of Natural Resources put a ban on sewer hook-ups because the plant was running at capacity.

"We've got vacant pipes and they had this thing jammed down our throats," Dugan protested.

Privatera said the $6 million operating and maintenance cost charged by Wayne County's DPW for the 12 million gallon-per-day plant must be divided among the Mini-Sewer participants.

"There's only eight municipalities in the project," she said. "Nobody has addressed that."

The position of FLUSH is that the project doesn't service the needs of the communities now nor is it expected to in the future.

It isn't "cost efficient" Privatera said, nor is it environmentally sound.

Also expected to be addressed in court is the issue of whether the county properly indicated that it was involved in litigation before selling bonds.

Meanwhile, construction of the plant in Brownstown continues as well as placement of an interceptor to Flat Rock, two communities not voicing any objections over the Mini-Sewer.

Flat Rock will be the setting for the new Madza plant earlier proposed by the company's officials.

"Madza will receive a 100 percent tax abatement for 12 years and they (Flat Rock officials) say it will bring growth into the area," Privatera said. "Who the hell is going to be able to afford to live downriver (if the Mini-Sewer passes the court's approval)?"

"The question is is it meeting our needs or is it meeting the needs of the county to stay in business?" she asked.

Privatera said if the EPA can prove in court that FLUSH's concerns are invalid, then she will be satisfied and the residents' quandary will be alleviated.

ARTS AND CRAFTS FAIR-...This Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. the grounds around the Romulus City Hall and Public Library will be busy, busy, busy, with an abundance of activity.

All elementary students in Romulus will have received a flyer about it from school by Friday. Be sure and have your child color or paint it and bring it to the fair for FREE popcorn.

As you come into the parking lot you will see Barb Wiskowski and her ponies.

You also will see the display of arts and crafts made by many of our own citizens as you stroll down the walk way. The Sesquicentennial Committee will have its souvenirs for sale somewhere between the pottery and the paintings.

If you stick around, you'll get to see the magic show at 2 p.m., and there will be food and refreshments available all day.

The Arts Council is sponsoring this Sesquicentennial activitiy in cooperation with the City of Romulus.

Remember...Saturday, Sept. 14, from 8 a.m. t0 5 p.m.. Be there. I'll be there looking for you! Oh, in case of bad weather, the fair will be Sunday, Sept.15.

THADDEUS...was a happy little boy who lived next door to my parents' house here in Romulus some time ago. Even though cancer was draining the life from his innocent little body, he remained a vigorous, active, inquisitive little character until his pain and his life came to an end.

I remember thinking that he should be outraged that he was being cheated out of a full life. But he was not the least bit angry. He was so cheerful, thoughtful and giving that I know he would have given anything he had to ease someone else's pain no matter how great his own was.

Please join the "ride against childhood cancer." Encourage your children to take many pledges and enter the "Wheels for Life Bike-a-thon."

Pledge sheets are available through the schools, the library, the recreation department and city hall. The bike-a-thon will begin at noon on Saturday, Sept. 21, at the city hall.

If you need more information contact Joan Omarzu at 941-7736 or the recreation department at 941-0666.

The St. Jude's Research Hospital, Thaddeus and other children like him will appreciate your efforts.

Search for boy nets no evidence

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Local police have given up the search for the 13-year-old Brighton boy kidnapped Saturday, Aug. 31 after inspection of a wooded area failed to turn up any evidence.

Romulus police, along with FBI agents and state police, were called to an area off Ecorse Road and Colbert Street in Romulus after WXYZ Channel 7's news department received an anonymous phone call at 12 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 4.

The caller was, according to a channel 7 employe's description,a white male stating that he wanted to talk to Bill Bonds, that station's news anchorman.

When questioned why he wanted Bonds, the caller said that he "was the one responsible for kidnapping the Moore boy and had just killed him and dumped him off" in the wooded area, according to Romulus police reports of the incident.

Shawn Moore was abducted Aug. 31 while riding his 10-speed bicycle near a service freeway drive known as Old U.S.-23 in Livingston County.

After the phone call, a police officer from the Livingston County Sheriff's office, the division handling a task force investigating the boy's disappearance, contacted the Romulus police department and asked for assistance in the search.

A cursory check was made immediately with the aid of Van Buren Township's canine unit but due to the dark, a more thorough search was postponed until morning.

The search revealed no evidence, according to one detective. At that point, the neighborhood was canvassed in a door-to-door hunt for persons who may have seen anything suspicious near the wooded area.

Police said that two vacant houses in the area were searched in the hope of finding evidence.

The search was halted at 1:30 p.m. and the investigating unit returned to its Brighton headquarters.

Another tip, called in Saturday, Sept. 7, suggested that Moore was buried in a shallow grave near the same wooded area searched earlier.

Man held in theft

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus man was arraigned Saturday, Aug. 31 on charges of armed robbery for a hold-up of a local gas station earlier last month.

Louis Dupree, 39, of 11027 Grover Street is currently being held in Wayne County Jail in lieu of a $50,000 cash bond for the Aug.17 armed robbery of a Total Gas Station on Goddary Road.

Dupree allegedly entered the station at approximately 9:26 p.m., placed a brown paper bag on the counter and said "give me everything in the register and make it fast."

The attendant complied and Dupree fled with an undisclosed amount of cash.

Witnesses said he allegedly fled on foot heading west across Wayne Road and southwest into a field.

On Aug. 26, the attendant at the station observed the suspect passing by and contacted police.

Romulus detectives asked Dupree to come in for questioning at which time he denied any connection to the robbery, police reports indicated.

A photo line-up indicated a positive identification of the suspect by witnesses and Dupree was arrested, according to reports.

A preliminary exam is scheduled 9 a.m. today (Wednesday) in 34th District Court.

In another incident involving a Total Gas Station, police are searching for a suspect in a Sept. 9 hold-up at 15025 Middlebelt.

The suspect, dressed in a white crew neck T-shirt, blue jeans and maroon knit ski mask, walked up to the station window, pulled a revolver from his waistband and demanded all the money, police said.

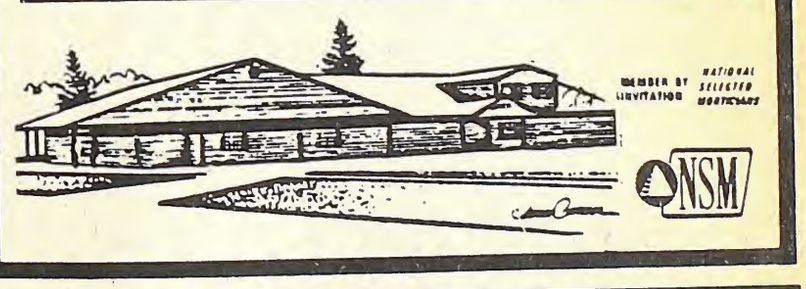

The suspect then ran around the building into an older model four-door Ford vehicle parked in front of Sunlight Market.

Police are still investigating the incident.

Politics and the press

What you are reading is a newspaper.

That isn't news to most of you – but we feel that it certainly requires definition to a number of local politicians who have sought to utilize us as their personal public relations counselors recently.

It won't work.

We are, and will remain, a newspaper. Our first and foremost obligation is and will remain to those we serve, our subscribers and readers. We are not here to cover up, aggrandize or beatify any office holder. We serve one purpose and one purpose only – to inform. Whether that is through our reporting of the news of the communities we serve, or through the advertising messages we provide, that is our purpose and our duty and will remain so.

This simple statement of purpose may seem somewhat unnecessary to the majority of office-holders and public figures who have dealt with us – but there are some out there who feel that they have the "divine" authority to control what does and does not appear on these pages.

They do not.

An example of this is the recent confrontation of a local politician and one of our newer staff members. The reporter in question is not inexperienced, and yet is new enough at this business to remain enthusiastic, eager and willing to learn. What she was taught in this instance, however, nearly proved catastrophic to her budding career.

She was summoned into the executive offices and subjected to what can only be described as scathing, sarcastic criticism of her work in the community. This diatribe took place in the presence of the another city employee, who later informed her that their conversations would have to be "off the record" in order that the chief official not be offended. To soften the blow of the verbal assault she had suffered, however, the employee then took our reporter to lunch at a local restaurant where she and a companion were entertained by the employee's expert comparisons of the various sizes of female breasts at other bars in the area. All in all, our reporter had less than a good day.

During the executive interview she was told, "From now on, please leave out anything that makes me look bad..." and "It's going to be difficult talking to you if everything I say is going to end up in print every time I turn around." Fortunately, our reporter did not respond in kind to this insulting drivel. Unfortunately, she sat and listened to more.

The politician continued outlining just what should and should not be in the paper concerning that community and the executive office.

Our reporter was further informed that other names in the community were appearing in the paper more than that of the executive, or so it appeared to some, and it would be better if she spoke only the chief officer on all issues.

This, we repeat, just isn't going to work. When we have a police question, we go to the police chief. When we have a story regarding the fire department, we go to the fire chief. When we have a treasury story we go to the treasurer...need we go on? But, it seems, this politician has carefully and forcefully blocked those channels. The police chief, we are told, has been ordered by his boss not to talk to us – and nearly every communtiy department has also been told that comments for publication will come only from the executive office. Since this politician wants only good news – and yet doesn't want everything said to appear in the paper, our job becomes even more difficult. Are we, then, to edit executive comments at our own discretion?

We don't work that way. We assign reporters to cover city beats with only one purpose. To report what is happening in that community. Whether it's good or bad, it is our job to present those facts. And if, after having investigated those facts, we come to an opinion, we present it here, on our editorial page.

We are not a public relations firm – nor are we some paranoid propaganda machine looking for corruption everywhere. If there is corruption, it is our job to report it – if there is good news, we try to report it. But it is not our job to serve any interest but that of our readers.

We won't be bullied, intimidated, insulted or stymied in our attempts to present a fair and accurate picture of any community. This politician's attempts to shut down all avenues of information will prove ineffectual and damaging to only the person who has attempted it. We will continue to make every effort to report, precisely, what is happening in that community in the most effective, efficient manner possible, with or without this executive's cooperation. Our job may have been made slightly more difficult by these childish and immature actions, but that can only be a temporary inconvenience.

Should the people who elected this politician discover the tactics now being employed by their candidate, we would wonder at their continued support. Should we make public the community and the official, that same public would, historically, raise a hue and cry of protest.

Perhaps it was a bad day at the office – perhaps we misunderstood the intent, or perhaps it was merely a misunderstanding. We hope so. We want the cooperation of this community particularly, as we do all those we serve. It means a great deal to us and any threat of poor communication is troubling.

We want to serve this community in the best manner possible, but that must be within the bounds of our own ethics, and good form.

We will continue to serve this community, and we will be watching closely the machinations of the executive office, hoping we have, somehow, misunderstood.

You see, we have begun to wonder just what there could be to hide.

Preferences – not predictions

Several reactions greeted the endorsements for political office that we published here last week. One of the most interesting was also one of the most revealing.

"Yeah, well, maybe that's what you think, but that ain't the way it's gonna be," one local politician chided.

This office-holder went on to tell us that the vote totals weren't going to come close to our "predictions" and that we were wrong about the winners.

That's when we realized it was, perhaps, time to clarify our position on political endorsements. They are not predictions – not by any means. Firstly, we don't operate with a crystal ball, we use history, logic, reason and the best interest of the community concerned as a criteria. We look at each candidate as an individual, examine their credentials, their past performance and our reactions to them.

When we endorse, we name those whom we believe will best serve the voters. We don't make any attempt to pick the winners of the elections. Many, many times we have not endorsed candidates we knew were sure to be top vote getters at the polls. That we happen to disagree with those voting, or the political machines that sponsor certain candidates, doesn't mean we don't understand them, or that we are unaware of the near certain outcome of the election.

If we were to have made predictions in the Westland race last week, rather than publish our preferred candidates, the names would have, no doubt, been different.

Obviously, we take a risk with each endorsement. If the candidate we prefer is not the winner, then the possibility of some resentments or perhaps bitterness is a risk we take. Dealing with politicians who hold grudges isn't an easy matter. Sometimes, however, that isn't the case. In a recent school board election, we did not endorse a candidate that we knew, without a doubt would win. She did. In subsequent conversations with her, we explained our reasons for our lack of support for her, and she not only understood, she vowed to prove to everyone that she would do exactly what she had promised during the campaign. She has, to date, done exactly that.

There are others who do, obviously, remember for many years whether or not we sanctioned them. Quite often we hear from office-holders who remind us, "you didn't endorse me three years ago." Our endorsements are our opinions, based on a careful, and we hope, objective look at the candidates. We do not predict – although perhaps we should begin to do that, too. You see, we've just discovered that we're very rarely wrong.

Seriously, folks . . .

All of us, no doubt, have our particular pet peeves, those things that we find most particularly annoying and aggravating.

One of mine is arrogant folk who seem to operate on the premise that they know it all, and what's more, others know nothing.

Those who suffer from what I call "A.D." (Arrogance Disease), are amazingly quick to point out the flaws present in the ideas and performance of others, but are somewhat slow in accounting for their own accomplishments, or the lack thereof.

Someone forgot to tell these self-appointed "quiz kids" that although it never hurts to advertise, most folks tire quickly of an endless diatribe of self aggrandizement. Those with A.D. love to tell how smart they are, how they have seen it all before, how they already know that, how they have "been in the business" since the time of Christ, and basically how they have a corner on knowledge.

Someone also neglected to successfully impart to these geniuses that seeing is believing, and that when you are as good as you think you are, then your work will exude excellence. Others, in turn, will recognize your work for what it is.

What happens when one succeeds in convincing themselves of how brilliant they are, how great their work is, how superior their cunning and intellect has become but time does not bring the expected recognition of such superiority? For some strange reason others do not seem to enjoy a shared appreciation of their worth.

Then what evolves is a personality that is unpleasant to be around, a personality that is crotchity, bitter, nasty, and . . . arrogant. What most often seems to be unacceptable to these charming folks, is a penetrating, no-holds-barred, honest look into the mirror, coupled with a realization that, perhaps things will never change for them until they change themselves.

Millions of dollars are spent annually on psychiatrists, psychologists, and psychotherapists whose function is to help people with all sorts of problems by holding up the proverbial mirror and counseling them as together they peer into the client's mind, life, and psyche.

Sadly, the world is full of angry, frustrated people who have lost their perspective on themselves and on life. Generally they have also lost their sense of humor.

Look friends, if we're lucky, we are here for 70 or 80 years. By the time we start to get a serious clue as to what life is about and develop the means to do something with it, our bodies have begun to fall into serious disrepair. Now if that isn't funny, what is?

When we become enamoured of our own wonderfulness, we only show the world how foolish we are. The arrogance that I find so offensive is humorless itself, and that I think more than anything else is what I find so repulsive.

We should not seek to be thought of as a living joke, unless comedy is our profession. However, when we take ourselves and the situation so seriously that others are repulsed by our manner and attitude, then we create the very scenerio that we fear the most . . . that others will not take us and our pursuits in earnest.

Most of us not only have our dislikes but we have our moments of joy as well. I can think of few things as satisfying (may God forgive me) as popping those over-inflated ballooning personalities, filled with hot air, and watching them fizzle and reveal themselves to be what all but themselves already knew them to be, people stretched beyond their abilities, thin skinned, and virtually empty of substance.

Oh, that all of us could keep our priorities straight, seeing all of life's adventure for what it is, an opportunity to experience God's mysteries, joys and sorrows. Life, dear friends, need not and should not be taken so seriously that we cannot see the humor in most every situation.

If we have the wisdom to inject a little lighthearted perspective into our lives and of those around us, perhaps then we will receive the gift that so many seek . . . and that is, to be taken seriously.

See you next week.

Unhappy anniversary

To the Editor:

September 4 is the day when the schools in the Huron School District will again open, and the teachers will be in their classrooms as usual. It will also be an anniversary of sorts, marking the start of the fourth year without a contract for the district's 94 teachers.

If the old saying "patience is a virtue," is true, then the teachers of the Huron School District must be over-flowing with virtue. But isn't three years long enough to be patient? This is one anniversary I don't much feel like celebrating.

Yours sincerely,

Ten Year Complaint

To the Editor:

I am responding to "City tackles landfill problems." Why is the media building up a case against Woodland Meadows 10 years after the fact?

The city knew it was there, the drive-in knew it was there, but the only people that complained 10 years ago were the residents that reside between Woodland Meadows and the drive-in.

No one heard. "The bomb" dropped and no one heard our cries until 10 years later. We live between a rock and a hard place, between the stench and debris to our west and garbage movies and debris to our east.

I am not so sure Wayne Drive-in gave out "refunds" because of the smell. I frequented the drive-in and the noise from the "party animals" all bent on getting "wasted." Loud stereo speakers and loud partyers are one of the problems we have had with the drive-in. Also the movies the children can watch from John Hix usually have nude sexual situations or the heads are being chopped off.

Why don't we move? We can't sell our homes.

If the Wayne Drive-in gets a tax break, I want my tax break, too!

Police praised

To the Editor:

I wish to thank the Van Buren Police Department for their professional support.

I was a recent rape victim from the I-275 bike path. The police department was kind and considerate.

I appreciated their professionalism.

Votes regretted

To the Editor:

When we mistakenly voted in the latest bunch to run Van Buren Township, we only opened up a Pandora's box of asinine ordinances.

One can only search his soul and see what fools we were.

Talk about Marxism, it has really come home to roost in Van Buren Township.

As one who voted for the present board, I can only say "I'm sorry."

In my opinion only a cretin would advocate "the greatest good for the greatest number," or the "right of eminent domain."

As Puck says "What fools we mortals be."

League baseball tactics blasted

To the Editor:

If there is an office that covers "Little League Baseball" a good place for them to take a close look would be the Wayne Ford Civic League!

In the early spring, each child, boy, player –any age– paid $25 and had to sell a carton of candy bars at $1 each in order to be placed on a team. (Later, they also had to sell raffle tickets.)

After quite a wait, they received a schedule, a worn-out, mis-fitting unifrom, a new cap and leg-stirups.

On one particular team, there were few coaches except the one in charge. If a game was called for any reason, it was never made up. If practice was called off, there was no practice. Mostly, there was no practice! This coach was not at the picnic – nor was he at the banquet. The team received no notice of the dates of these events. Parents had to call other coaches or W.F.C.L.

As for the picnic – this consisted of beer, pop, hot dogs, corn on the cob, etc. for which tickets were sold at 25¢ each. Being a family affair, grandparents, moms, dads, and especially ball players, this became expensive.

The banquet had a charge of $4 each, at the door. (In former years the Civi League furnished the ball program, the banquet, and furnished two prizes for each ball player in all leagues.) This year, the first place team in each league were the only ones to receive a trophy.

It appears the W.F.C.L. has become money hungry. It is also a poor excuse for baseball and not much of an enticement for young ballplayers to come out next season.

For one Westlander, I can not see how such a beautiful baseball program could skid into such a shambles.

Green thumbs recognized

To the Editor:

The Beautification Committee of the City of Wayne wishes to thank all the "Green Thumbs" who entered their beautiful yards as participants in our "yard of the month" contest this summer.

From this number, only one could be chosen for the honor each month, truly a most difficult selection. In our opinion, you're all winners and contribute greatly to the beauty of the City of Wayne!

We hope others will join you in the summer of 1986 in sharing your lovely yards.

We thank our guest judges for their time and expertise, and last, but not least, the Wayne Eagle and staff for their support and excellent coverage of the "Yard of the Month" Contest.

Rockets soar

Glenn buries Belleville

By KEITH A. DEMOLAY
ANP Staff Writer

Over the course of sports history, there have been many dynamic duos who have made their mark on the athletic world – people like Larry Csonka and Jim Klick, Phil Esposito and Bobby Orr, Alan Trammell and Lou Whitaker, Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, to name a few...

Last Friday night, before a standing room only crowd at Kionka Field, the Rockets of Westland John Glenn added two more names to that list --- tailback Tony Boles and fullback Paul Beasley. Boles and Beasley combined for 300 yards and four touchdowns as they led the Rockets to a 35-6 victory over Belleville in the opening game of the season for both squads.

"It was a great way to start the season," said Rocket head coach Chuck Gordon. "The team needed to get off to a good start and we did."

Glenn entered the game as highly-favored and much touted in various publications, while Belleville, the underdog, came into the contest hoping to catch the Rockets napping. That never happened.

The first three minutes of the game the Westlanders gave the visiting Tigers a "golden opportunity" with an early turnover in the form of a fumble. But the Rocket defense, led by tri-captain Paul Pomorski, stiffened and got their teammates the ball on their own 15-yard line.

Beasley adds a different dimension to our running game.

Then, the two numbers that the Tigers would have forever emblazoned on their minds --- 33 and 22--went to work. Beasley took the ball for 12 yards, Boles ran for eight, Beasley for nine and Boles for 20 more.

Finally, with the ball on the 19-yard line, Boles took the handoff from quarterback Steve Irwin, cut right behind the blocks of Bill Grisamer (Sr., 5-10, 162), Rick Hassen (Sr., 6-3, 204), and Don Croft (Sr., 6-2, 205) and scored Glenn's first touchdown of the 1985 campaign. Tony Svaluto then added the point-after and Glenn led, 7-0.

"I think both of the guys had solid performances in the game," said Gordon of his two backs. "The offensive line, on the whole, played a good game."

Four plays later, the Rockets had the ball again, and five plays after that, they were in the end zone courtesy of Boles's 12-yard run. Beasley set it up with a 17-yard run that he nearly broke for paydirt himself.

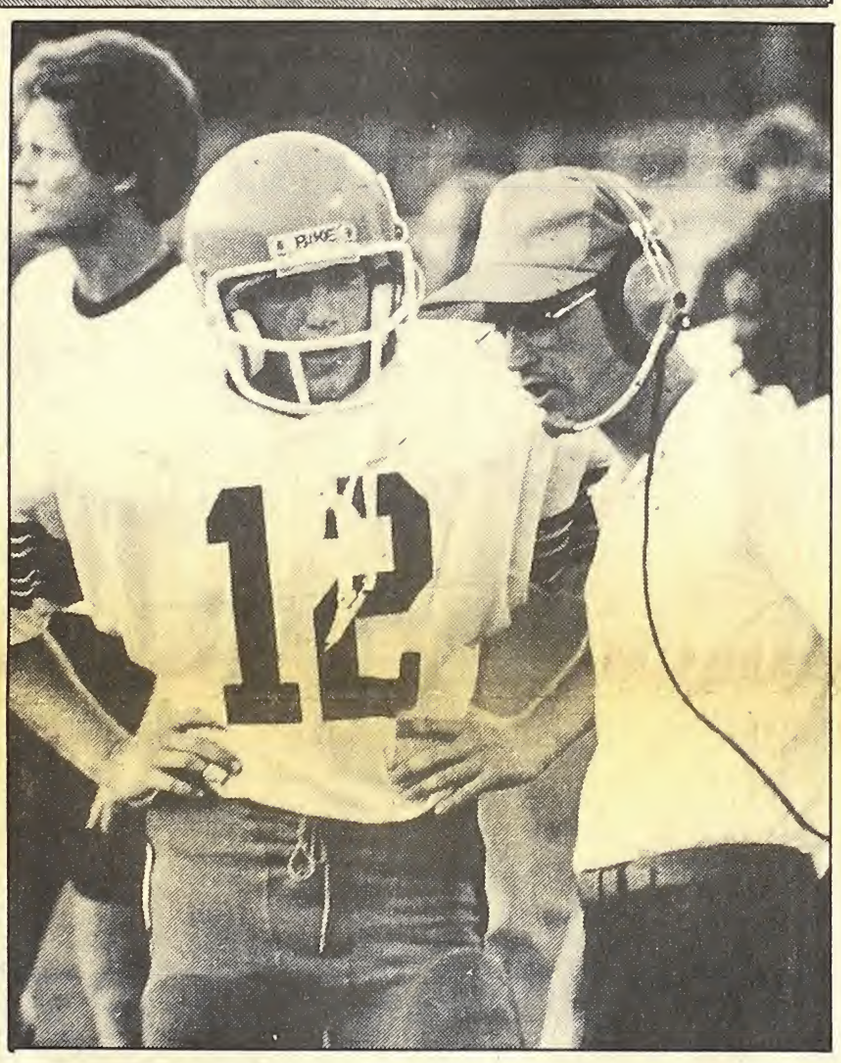

"Beasley adds a different dimension to our running game," Gordon offered. "He's not your typical big fullback but an outstanding runner. We're pleased with his first start."

Meanwhile, the Glenn defense stood its ground and refused to led Dennis Montie, the Tigers' 6-1, 194-pound fullback and quarterback Jim Utt(Sr., 5-8, 157) get anything accomplished. Todd Quattlander and

Right down the middle

Drilling a pass right down the middle to one of his receivers with plenty of time to spare is Westland John Glenn quarterback teve Irwin who led his Rockets to an impressive victory over visting Belleville in the season opener for both schools. In the photo below a frustrated Troy Chapman(8) looks dejected after Glenn's Tony Boles scored one of his two touchdowns in a 35-6 victory over the Tigers. Belleville opens the 1985 Wolverine A Conference Friday night, hosting Trenton, while Glenn also is at home, taking on Pontiac Central.

Jam session

Belleville coach Pete O'Neill and quarterback Jim Utt take time out to assess the situation at hand. The moment of deliberation occurred Friday night against Westland John Glenn during the season opener. Belleville lost the opener and will try to recover Friday at home against Trenton, a Wolverine A Conference rival.

Wayne, Howton get off to winning start at Garden City

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It was just a great way to begin the 1985 high school football season for Wayne Memorial and first year head coach Chuck Howton.

Howton, who replaced Floyd Carter at the helm of the Wayne grid machine, watched Doug Quartuccio boot a 27-yard field goal on the first play of an overtime period to give the Zebras a 17-14 victory over host, Garden City, Friday night.

"It was a great victory for our team," said Howton whose troops return home this Friday to take on Ann Arbor Huron. "We were two evenly matched teams and we are fortunate to come away with the victory."

Howton pointed out that Friday night's match-up with Huron also is important. "Although they (Huron) lost their opener to Lansing Sexton, Ann Arbor has an excellent tradition in football. In fact, they were ranked 12th before the opener."

It was a great victory for our team, and an excellent way to start the season.

Wayne struck first blood as the Zebras took the opening kick-off and marched 70 yards to score on Darren Tatum's 30-yard run around left end. Quartuccio, who engineered the touchdown by mixing up his plays, throwing to Tatum and to Dan McGraw for completions, booted the first of two extra points.

However, Garden City tied the score in the second period and the 7-all deadlock remained until the waning minutes of the first half when Danny McGraw returning the ensuing kikcoff to the Zebra 25. Quartuccio picked up 25 more yards when he combined with McGraw on a pass completion. The momentum stalled as the Zebras were penalized 20 yards, but Tatum broke loose on the next play and sprinted 50 yards to the Garden City 15 before he was nailed. A slant pass to Jordan from the QB left the visitors 4-yards shy of the TD and Tatum made up the difference on the next play.

Garden City refused to quit

Wayne golfer cards hole-in-one

A Wayne golfer, who took up golfing only a year ago, accomplished in one stroke what many golfers take a lifetime to do.

The golfer, Ray Gdowski, carded a hole-in-one over the weekend while golfing at Giant Oak Golf Course in Temperance Bedford. Gdowski aced the 148-yard, 15th hole, using a 5-Iron. He finished the round with a 51.

"I was really thrilled," said Gdowski. "I have been playing in the Notre Dame Knights of Columbus League at Shady Hollow and have never even come close. This is my first ace."

Completing the foursome playing with the local golfer were Bill Goodall, Herb Beatle and Guy Schnob.

Romulus harriers fly past Riverview

Romulus harriers got off to a fast start last week as Coach Dan Henry's harriers swept Riverview in the season opener. The Eagles' dominated the boys division with a 21-34 victory, while the girls turned in with a 25-30 triumph.

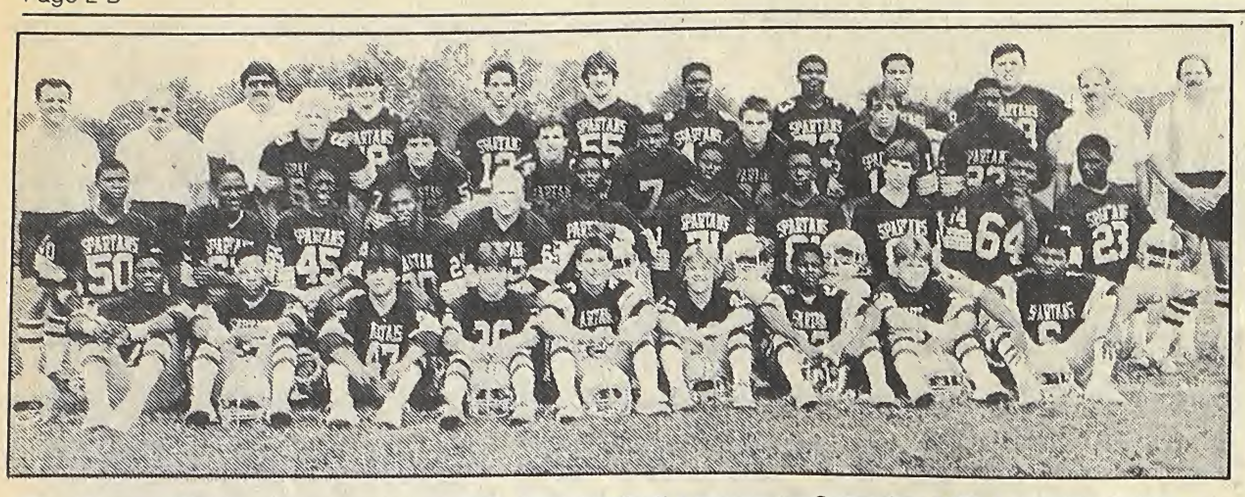

"We need a lot of work," said Henry who is starting his second year as head coach. "However with Anthony Thomas and Mike Overstreet in our line-up we have the nucleus of a winning team this year."

Thomas and Overstreet finished 1-2 against the Pirates in a match-up that runners had to overcome 90-plus degree heat and humidity. Romulus also received a third place finish from Terry Jones.

The Cherry Hill Spartans launched their final football season on Saturday with a lopsided victory over visiting New Boston Huron. This is the Spartans' final season because voters agreed to merge with the Wayne-Westland School District and Cherry Hill is fazing out. Before the school district becomes history, however, coach Ken Mientkiewicz would like to end the year with the Tri-River Conference title.

Surprise

Spartans start with 'big win'

Despite defections from its ranks, Cherry Hill opened its "last football" campaign with an impressive 34-14 victory over out-of-conference rival, New Boston Huron.

"I was pleasantly surprised at the performances of our young and inexperienced players," said Cherry Hill coach Ken Mientkiewicz. Mientkiewicz lost key personnel to Dearborn Heights Crestwood because the Cherry Hill School District is in the process of merging with the Wayne-Westland schools and the players, who live in the Dearborn Heights sector, opted to attend Crestwood.

The Spartans left little doubt in anyone's mind that they wanted this first victory. They struck for two TDS in the first quarter, built up a 20-0 halftime lead, then added a TD in the third quarter and coasted past the Chiefs who put their 14 points on the board in the last period.

Cherry Hill sophomore quarter Lou Davis combined on a 15-yard scoring pass play with tight end Mike Thibeault for the Spartans first score. It culminated a 55-yard drive during the initial series. A Huron turnover set up Cherry Hill's second TD as Wayne Stephens pounced on the errant ball at the Huron 35. Six plays later Cherry Hill was in the end zone again, this time on Davis's 20-yard strike to Jim Kuretich.

Brian Wolf made it a 14-0 game with the two-point conversion.

Cherry Hill fullback Scott Kopczyk picked up his first TD of the season when he capped a midfield sustained drive with an 8-yard run. And Wolf came back in the fourth period with a 3-yard TD run which also capped a long drive.

Davis wound up with 80 yards in 10 carries and Thibeault caught four passes for 60 yards. Standouts on defense included Charles Speight, a tackle; end John Williamson; Lou Manev, also a tackle, an Kuretich, who accounted for an interception.

"We felt that everyone gave their best possible effort under some trying circumstances," said Mientkiewicz who pointed out that temperatures at game time were above the 90 degree mark and "the humidity was awful."

Cherry Hill launches its final Tri-River Conference season Friday night at Southgate Anderson.

Bulldogs destroy Oak Park, 32-6

"It was a good beginning for us. But the road ahead will be rough."

That's the way Robichaud coach Bob Yauck assessed his team's onesided 32-6 victory over Oak Park in the football opener for both schools.

"We made our first game mistakes," Yauck continued, "but obviously they didn't hurt us. Oak Park is going to win their share of games."

Bernardo Carter led the Bulldogs, teaming with Arthur Jackson to provide the scoring power.

Carter plowed his way to a pair of touchdowns as he scored from the two twice and picjed up a couple of conversions. Jackson paced the Bulldogs in rushing as he amassed 70 yards on 12 carries.

Westland John Glenn's outstanding running back Tony Boles(33), labeled as one of the finest running backs in the state this year, lived up to preseason expectations

Rockets start off with a bang against Belleville

Doug Strehl nearly picked off Utt passes, while the defensive line plugged nearly every hole.

"The defense played well," Gordon said, "but we've got to have this kind of defense in the league. For an opener, we played well,

In the second quarter, Glenn scored again as Beasley raced 40 yards to set up quarterback Irwin's touchdown pass to tight end Rick Hassen in the corner of the end zone that ANP photographer Lothar Konietzko nearly caught.

On the ensuing kick-off, Belleville's speedy return man Greg Hardman (Jr., 5-11, 150) nearly returned it all the way until Rich Nastal (Jr., 5-51) stepped in front of him and brought Hardman down at the 50-yard line.

"The special teams play was fairly typical for the opener," said Gordon. "I was especially concerned about several things that we need to work on."

Shortly before halftime, Glenn made it 28-0 on Beasley's townsdown run, this time keyed by Boles' 27-yard run. Bill Grisamer fooled everybody and raced into the end zone for the two-point conversion.

Glenn added its final touchdown in the third quarter, using the same method --Boles right, Beasley left --before Boles scored his third touchdown of the hot, humid evening.

Svaluto'a point-after was good and Glenn led, 35-0.

The Tigers finally got on the scoreboard when an errant Glenn football bounced into the hands of Sean Jones (Jr., 5-11, 155) who was running full stride at the time and Jones raced 55 yards to the end zone and the Tigers had averted the shutout.

The Junior Varsity Rockets opened their season with a 29-0 victory over Belleville as Kenny Jones scored two touchdowns and rushed for 152 yards and Kurt Kuban added one TD and 55-yards.

and forced the issue into an extra period when they scored midway in the fourth quarter.

In the overtime, Garden City got the first crack with the ball and surrendered it on the second play of the series to Jordan via an interception.

When Wayne took over, the Zebras opted for a field goal and Quartuccio hit his target.

Jordan had an outstanding day on defense as did Kelley Claxton while William Massey, making his varsity debut, had some great hits from the end post. Doug Warner, a linebacker, and Mike Cooney, a defensive tackle, also stood out.

"We had to play some people out of position for this one," said Howton, who refused to explain the statement. He did say that he expects to have all of his players back in the line-up for the Huron game.

Prevention 'best cure' for injuries

Football and other exercise activities can be made much safer, more comfortable and provide the participant with greater abilities if some simple precautions are followed before and after participation, according to Mike O'Hara, physical therapist at Annapolis Hospital.

Annapolis owns and operates "PT Plus", a physical rehabilitation medicine center on Wayne Road in Westland which provides physical therapy services, plus occupational therapy, speech and hearing therapy, cariopulmonary services and consultation with a physician who is Board-certified in physical medicine.

One specialty of the center is prevention and treatment of sports injuries.

"Prior to beginning a practice session or game, a gentle progressive warm-up session followed by a comprehensive set of stretching exercises should be performed," he advises. "The warm up should be similar to the intended athletic activity but performed at only one-quarter to half the speed and intensity."

Most warm-up activities can be finished in 10 to 15 minutes and are followed by stretching. A good stretching program includes the entire body and drastically reduces the possibility of injury, O'Hara noted. All stretches must be held for a minimum of 30 seconds in a position that produces only minimal discomfort. It is important that stretching exercises by performed correctly and that "bouncing" during the stretch be avoided in order to derive maximum benefit.

"A good warm-up and stretching program can take as little as 20 minutes to complete, and then participation can begin at full speed," O'Hara said.

After completing a workout or game, it is necessary to cool the body down slowly, he continued. "This can be accomplished with a short walk or some gentle calisthenics. At the end of the cool down, a second session of stretching drills is important to prevent shortening of fatiqued muscles."

A benefit of post exercise stretching is that it produces long lasting results and increased comfort during future athletic activity, he added.

Following these simple precautions will make any exercise safer, more comfortable and provide the participant with greater abilities in that activity, while minimizing the chance of injury," O'Hara concluded.

Salem

Plymouth Salem discovered the hard way why Wolverine 'A'Conference representative, Trenton, is considered one of the teams to beat in the conference.

Trenton's rugged defense held the Rocks in checks while the Trojans chalked up a 21-7 victory over their non-league rivals.

Salem averted the shoutout when Robbie Adams went into the Trenton end zone from one-yard out, capping a short drive.

If New Boston Huron is going to improve upon its 1984 record of 3-6 the Chiefs will have to shy away from injuries and keep their turnovers at a minimum, according to second year head coach Tom LaBeau. LaBeau and his Chiefs are pitted against some of the finest Class B teams in the state in Monroe Catholic Central, a state finalist of a year ago and Riverview, a perennial football powerhouse.

Inkster edged by Penfield

Vikings visit Oak Park on Friday

Although they came up with 16 points in the third quarter, Inkster High and Coach A.C. James were forced to hand over an 18-16 verdict to host, Battle Creek Penfield, in the season opener last week.

"We had our problems getting started," said the veteran Viking coach, "and when we scored three TDs in third quarter I thought we were on our way. Unfortunately, we didn't come away with a victory."

Lafayette Upshaw, Inkster's speedy back, turned in an exceptional first game performance as he scored two touchdowns on runs of 18 and 17. Upshaw also cashed in on a dash off tackle for the two point conversion. Mercer Brewer scored the other conversion.

Penfield had crossed the Viking goal line once in the first quarter and build up a 12-0 halftime lead before the visitors showed signs of life. They came back with Upshaw's touchdowns and led 14-12 at one point before the hosts collected the final and decisive touchdown midway in the fourth quarter.

'We had our problems getting started . . . we should have won.'

"This is one game I believe that we should have won," said James whose Vikings take on Oak Park next. "We didn't play strong defensively and three key turnovers and a pass interception led to Penfield touchdowns.

Viking starting quarterback, T.C. Winn, looked shaky in his initial appearance and was replaced by back-up QB, William Knox, who managed to ignite the team. Knox completed six of his 12 pass attempts for 60 yards, hitting Upshaw for two and 12 yards. Eddie Clark also nabbed one aerial.

The defensive corps received some outstanding efforts out of Upshaw, who doubled as a strong-side linebacker; Antonio Elmore, at cornerback; Anthony Anderson, defensive tackle.

James hopes to see an improvemenmt to last year's 3-6 record, but realizes that Highland Park and Robichaud are again loaded this year.

"We don't have a lot of depth and the lack of experience definitely will hurt us," James said. "But, if we can improve, I believe this team can surprise a lot of people."

Prevention best cure for injuries

Here are basic stretches for the more frequently-injured lower extremely muscles. Consistent and proper use of stretching exercise to improve flexibility will minimize the possiblity for injury, and increase fitness, according to Annapolis Hospital physical therapists who staff PT Plus.

Standing hamstring stretch:

Stand with your left leg crossed over your right leg. Slowly bend forward at the hips with your hands moving down the front of your thighs. When a pull is felt across the back of the right leg, hold in that position for 30 seconds, then reverse legs and repeat. Avoid bending the neck and truck excessively forward since this produces discomfort and is not necessary to deliver stretch to the handstrings.

Back-lying hip flexor stretch:

Lay on your back and bring both legs up toward your chest. Hold one knee tightly to your chest with both hands. Slide the other leg down to the floor. Stretch should be felt in the front part of the down thigh. Hold for 30 seconds and repeat with other leg.

Sitting hip adductors stretch:

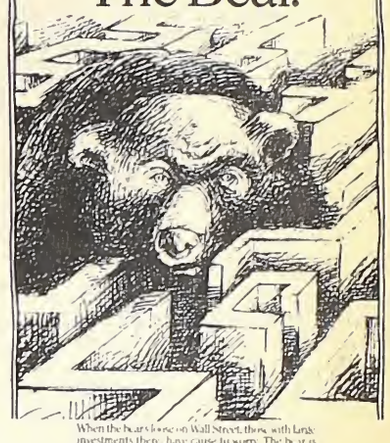

Sit on the floor with your legs outstretched in a "V" position. Bend your knees so that you can bring the soles of your feet with your hands. Hold onto the tops of the feet and bend slightly so that your elbows rest on your inner knees or thighs. Gently press down with your elbows in an attempt to lower the knees to the floor. Stretch should be felt along the inner thighs. Hold for 30 seconds in a non-painful stretch.

Heel cord stretch:

Stand facing a wall approximately 1.5 - 2 feet away. Place your left leg back one step from the wall and leave your right leg in place. Balance with your hands against the wall and lean forward. Attempt to keep knee straight. Stretch will be produced in the calf muscles and posterior heel region of the left leg. Hold for 30 seconds and then reserve legs and repeat.

Franklin meets grid nemesis, Stevenson next

Handing over a 18-6 decision to arch-rival Fordson in their season opener last Saturday, Livonia Franklin will now have to recover its confidence at the expense of Stevenson, a cross-town rival that has been a football nemesis for Coach Armand Vigna and his Patriots.

Franklin travels to Stevenson Friday night for the meeting which is a "cross-over" Western Lakes Conference game that doesn't count in the league won-lost column.

But it does count in prestige.

"We have had a hard time beating them over the years," noted Vigna whose teams usually are among the toughest around. "Whenever you have any kind of city rivalry, and that's the case here, you can expect some hard hitting."

Stevenson also dropped its opener last week, coming up on the shortend of a 7-6 decision with Redford Union.

Six turnovers in the form of two interceptions and four fumbles spelled Franklin's demise against Fordson, the defending Wolverine 'A' Conference champ which reached the state playoffs last year. The Patriots avoided the shutout by scoring on the last play when back-up quarterback Sean McCusker fired a pass into the end zone where it was tipped into the waiting hands of Bob Solnikowski.

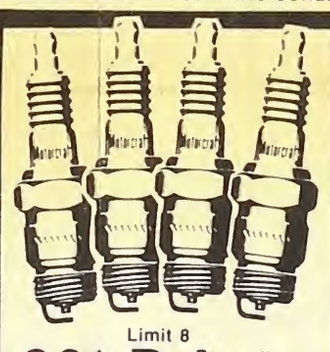

"It was really a 12-0 game," said Vigna. "We both scored in the last minutes."

Brad Norrid provided the glimmering light for the Patriots on offense as he rushed for 60 yards in eight tries. He helped set up two TD threats in the second half which were erased by the Tractors thanks to an interceptions and miscues.

Rowland– Boudreau

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rowland of Wayne have announced the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl P. Rowland, to Sean P. Boudreau of Flushing, Michigan,

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Boudreau.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Wayne Memorial High School, Eastern Michigan University, where she earned a bachelor's degree, and the University of Toledo, where she earned her juris doctor degree. She currently is employed by the Kalamazoo County Circuit Court.

Her fiance is a graduate of Flushing High School and Eastern Michigan University. He currently is serving in the U.S. Navy in Monterey, California.

A Nov. 30 wedding date has been set.

Hardin–Nesmith

Wedding bells will ring on Oct. 5 for Tracey Lynn Hardin of Westland and Russell Paul Nesmith of Wayne.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Donald and Linda Hardin of Westland. A 1984 graduate of John Glenn High School, she currently is employed by McNally's Home Style Deli in Wayne.

Her fiance is the son of Paul and Faith Nesmith of Westland. A 1983 graduate of John Glenn High School, he is employed by Contractors Steel Company in Livonia.

Polzin –Sieben exchange vows

St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Belleville provided the setting for the July 20 nuptials of Gloria Polzin and Glenn Sieben.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Russell VanBuhler. The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Sieben of Cente, Minnesota.

Music for the double-ring ceremony was by Joan VanBuhler, niece of the bride, who played the guitar and sang.

The bride chose a street-length cream lace dress, with gathered waistline and pink silk sash, a scalloped boat neckline and hem and short sleeves, for the late morning ceremony. Her bouquet was of miniature pink roses and pink carnations.

She asked Odalee Hoeft of Belleville, her sister, to serve as her honor attendant. She wore a lavendar street-length dress with long sleeves and pleated skirt.

The groom asked Bud Hoeft, brother-in-law of the bride, to perform the duties of best man.

A breakfast, held at Mr. Steak in Canton Township for the newlyweds and their immediate family preceded a 2-week honeymoon trip to Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

A reception, given by the couple's children, was held on Aug. 3 for the newlyweds and 60 guests at the VFW Hall in Belleville. The hall was decorated with pink and white roses and carnations, which also topped a 3-tiered, heart-shaped wedding cake made as a gift to the couple by Mr. and Mrs James Schwalm of Livonia, their in-laws.

The couple is residing in Belleville, while the groom continues his work as a sales engineer at Hennells Inc. in Ferndale.

My name is Aaron

There's a new member of the Kevin Harden family of Fort Ord, California, following the birth of Aaron Burton Aug. 9.

The infant arrived at 12:30 a.m. at Fort Ord Hospital, weighing in at 7 pounds, 9 ounces and measuring 20 inches in length.

The couple's first child, he is the new grandson of Phyllis and Harold Blanck of Belleville, Betty and Douglas Harden of Romulus and Kim Ilsun Chong of Korea.

Celebrating the new arrival are great-grandparents Carl and Margaret Lentz of Lodi, Ohio.

Welcoming the youngsters at home were his "big" sisters, Joy Marie, 4, and Nicole Lee, 4.

The grandparents include John and Mary Saunders of Westland and Alexander and Virginia Ruchala of Erie, Michigan, formerly of Westland, and Stella Paris of Detroit.

For most, dieting is Siberia.

. . . A scoop of cottage cheese on a canned peach half.

. . . So much tuna that you feel like spawning when you cross a bridge.

. . . Entering the local "diet club" and having the secretary call you by name and accept your check without ID.

Fear no more trusty readers, for today, we embark on a new beginning. A new life. A feeling of thanks to the local Sears stores for dropping their "chubby" department.

Effective today, this writer will attempt to lose those last "15 pounds" that somehow popped up during the Labor Day weekend. Really folks, I went to bed and woke up the next morning with what is more commonly known as a "jellyroll."

I now believe in the "fat fairy."

Some of you might feel I'm jumping the gun on "just a 15-pound problem." I wish. Don't forget I do "Kelly & Company" and "Good Afternoon Detroit," and the television always adds 10 pounds. (Come to think of it, even Shirley Eder is beginning to look a little . . .(FAT BRINGS OUT THE NASTIES IN ALL OF US.) Furthermore, what is a 15-pound problem today usually ends up as a 25-pound problem by Thanksgiving and a 35-pound problem by Christmas.

So what is my secret? Rather than tell you what I will do, let's start with a few things I promise not to do . . . I promise not to . . . starve myself . . . get pills from my doctor . . . join a fat club . . . flaunt my weight loss (well, maybe just to Dave Willett, my publisher, whom I challenged to drop 15 pounds with me.)

I resolve to . . . eat sitting down . . . eat three meals per day, with planned snacks . . . keep a diary of what I eat and when . . . put away my Paul Prudhomme cookbook.

Assuming that the majority of folks out there are so glad the kids went back to school and the malls will again be navigable through Thanksgiving, I challenge you! Start today. Don't wait until Monday. Whether you have a 5-pound problem, or a 155-pound problem, do something now! In addition to my future columns with updates on my progress, I will include at least one great tasting, low calorie recipe that will hopefully help you beat the battle of the bulge.

Want one of my daily log charts? Drop me a note of encouragement and your goal(s) along with a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Chef Larry's Diet Chart, P.O. Box 578, Associated Newspapers, Wayne, Michigan, 48184.

Bon appetite (and good luck!)

DILLED ZUCCHINI SOUP
(serves 4 at 71 calories per serving)

1 1/2 teaspoons olive oil
1 large onion, chopped
2 pounds zucchini, shredded
1 1/2 cups chicken broth
3 tablespoons dry milk powder
1 1/2 teaspoons dill weed
fresh ground pepper
4 tablespoons plain yogurt
dill to garnish

Heat oil in medium saucepan over low heat. Add onions and cook until they are softened (about 5 minutes). Add zucchini, broth, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Transfer to a blender and puree until smooth. Using a wire whisk, whisk in milk, dill weed and pepper. Heat, then ladle into bowls and top each bowl with 1 tablespoon plain yogurt and a garnish of fresh dill. Great chilled, too!

CHICKEN TARRAGON
(serves 4 at 185 calories each)

4 4 oz. boned chicken breast halves, skinned
4 tablespoons chicken or beef broth
1 tablespoon tarragon, crushed
the juice of 1/2 lemon or 3 tablespoons lemon juice

In a non-stick skillet, heat broth until it is reduced by 2/3. Add chicken breasts and sautee over medium high heat for 2 minutes on each side. Sprinkle with crushed tarragon and just before serving, sprinkle with lemon juice to create a glaze from the dehydrated pan juices. Serve immediately.

RASPBERRY SPRITZER
(6 servings as 77 calories each)

Replace the champagne with club soda and save 35 calories per serving!

3 cups fresh raspberries (or frozen, unsweetened, thawed)
6 tablespoons boiling water
1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 1/4 cups club soda
1 1/4 cups champagne or dry white wine
6 lemon peel strips

Mix raspberries with boiling water in a bowl. Mash berries to release juices. Pour into a large bowl through a strainer lined with cheesecloth. Let stand until raspberry liquid has drained completely (at least 1 hour). Stir fresh lemon juice into the liquid. Just before serving, combine raspberry liquid with soda and champagne or wine. Pour into glasses. Garnish with lemon peel.

TWICE BAKED POTATOES
(serves 4 at 90 calories each)

4 4 oz. baking potatoes, scrubbed and pre-baked
4 tablespoons plain yogurt
1 teaspoon dry beef-flavored bouillon
1 green onion, chopped fine

Split potatoes. Remove as much of the meat as possible and mix meat with remaining ingredients. Mix well. Divide evenly and place in potato shells and pop under broiler for 3 minutes or bake at 350 degrees until lightly browned.

BAKED APPLES OR PEARS
(serves 4 at 50 calories each)

2 delicious medium apples
2 Bosc or D'Anjou pears (medium)
1 cup of your favorite fruit flavored diet pop
cinnamon to taste

Split pears and apples, core and place face down in an ovenproof casserole. Pour diet pop over the fruit, sprinkle with cinnamon and bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes or until tender. Can be easily microwaved on high power for 10 minutes, covered. Also great frozen after being baked.

Now let's not kid ourselves as what is a medium fruit!

(Editor's Note: Willett has accepted Janes' challenge, and has, in fact, already begun his campaign to shed 15 pounds, much to the consternation of the staff who fear his weight loss may also shorten his temper. Should this happen, the entire group has vowed to avenge their leader. Progress reports to come!)

anniversary time

2-day party marks 40th anniversary

A 2-day celebration June 29-30 helped Nick and Teresa Fischer of Belleville observe their 40th wedding anniversay.

The couple originally exchanged their wedding vows on June 26, 1945.

The celebration was given by the couple's five children and their spouses – Jim and Sandy Fischer, Joe and Caroline Lewek, Lonny and Marilyn Mascho, Larry and Diane Ellison and Greg and Denise Bator.

It started with a 4 p.m. Mass June 29 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Belleville, where the couple renewed their wedding vows before the Rev. Raymond Skoney and 100 guests.

Also attending was Mrs. Fischer's sister and brother-in-law, Mat and Katherine Hatzenbuhler of Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Hatzenbuhler served as her sister's maid of honor at the original nuptial ceremony.

The readings were by Tom, Mark and Julie Villenueve and their daughters Denise and Diane sang and played the guitar for the ceremony. Granddaughters Monica and Melissa played the cornet and clarinet.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the VFW Hall in Wayne, with more than 150 guests in attendance. The couple cut a 5-tiered wedding cake, made by their daughter Caroline.

The celebration continued on June 30 at the Fischer residence with friends and family gathering for games, singing, dancing and a pig roast.

The couple's grandchildren in attendance included Melissa and Lori Lewek, Tracey Fischer, Lindsay Mascho and Angel Ellison.

Three of Fischer's brother and sisters were able to attend the party, while Mrs. Fischer's brother, six sisters and several nieces and nephews from Oregon, Montana and North Dakota joined in the festivities. Relatives from Chicago, Illinois, Toronto, Ontario, Detroit and throughout the state of Michigan, Ohio and Texas also attended.

Contest winners

Several Western Wayne County residents won cash prizes ranging from $50 to $2,500 in the Manuway cash sweepstakes, sponsored by Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit.

Winning $100 in the contest were Donald Blair of Westland, Vicki Johnson of Westland, Tom Rawlings of Westland and Paul Slaby of Inkster, while $50 prizes went to Annette Garner of Canton Township, Karen Scott of Westland, Kathy Sheldon of Westland, Matthew Flesher of Inkster, Mary Ann Giardina of Inkster, Linda Colon of Inkster and Karen Harris of Inkster.

The sweepstakes, held during July, were designed to increase the usage of Manuway automatic teller machines (ATMs) by Manuway and other Magic Line ATM cardholders. More than 22,000 persons entered the sweepstakes.

My Fair Lady . . . Local thespians produce classic at O'Leary

An exercise in pure confusion.

That might be the conclusion of a theatre novice who happened upon the 24 perspiring singers and dancers laboring to follow the authoritative directions of a petite woman at the O'Leary Auditorium this week. Clad informally in everything from leotards to walking shorts, the aspiring thespians are hard at rehearsal for the Alexander Productions' "My Fair Lady." James Cape and Ron Diehl, originators of the newly chartered Alexander Productions, are devoted to showcasing directors, actors, scenic designers and musicians into entertainment with a capital "E." Their selection of the Lerner and Lowe classic will mark the 30th anniversary of the play, which premiered on Broadway March 15, 1956 with a cast of 43 actors and singers.

"We plan to use as much talent as southeastern Michigan has available."
– James Cape

"My Fair Lady" sends the curtain up with a $40,000 budget and represents the second effort of the Alexander organization. The Michigan Council for the Arts, along with private enterprise, partially supports the non-profit efforts of the group, along with ticket sales for each production.

Adding to the air of confusion at the rehearsal last week was a buzz saw loudly eating plywood, a hammer viciously attacking the head of an anticipatory nail, lumber and scenery moving with what appeared to be reckless abandon while the 24 perambulating cast members worked through and around the organized melee.

"Open auditions are a must," Cape said. "We plan to use as much talent as southeastern Michigan has available."

Cape is "into" costume and stage design and is currently working on Aretha Franklin's upcoming concert in the Detroit area. Her costumes and the total production design are in his capable hands. "And wouldn't you know, the two shows, (Franklin's and "Lady") go up the same evening," producer Cape said. An experienced New York hand, I asked Cape how he happened to get to New York.

"Well, you see Margaret Hamilton . . . You do remember "The Wizard of Oz?"

"Yes."

"Well, you see, she was my Godmother . . . " and Cape is interrupted by a member of the staff and his New York adventure is lost.

Cindy Grover of Canton Township is a member of the technical crew of "Lady" and might be renamed "Miss Enthusiasm" for the current project. Pat Sarna of Plymouth Township, who claims Don Knotts (Barney of "Andy Griffith Show" fame) as a cousin is a fellow technician.

Belleville's Theresa Kromis, a handsome figure in her black leotard is a chorus member. "I chose to be in the chorus because the time required for rehearsal would be less! How wrong I was," she said. Kromis is a farmerette in Belleville when not pursuing her theatrical avocation.

Jeannette Dery of Westland also enhances the dancing ensemble and Don and Lisa Andres, formerly of Wayne are a handsome couple also in the chorus.

According to Cape, Diane Recardeau a member of the origianl dance staff of the 1956 show is serving as a consultant for the choreography of this production. And not just anyone is directing those "Lady" dances. They are under the skillful hand of Balynn Guzman, better known to many as Dr. Guzman, their pediatrician. Her powerful voice instructs and cajoles the aspiring crew while her own petite body moves with a shimmering grace. A friend of Jose Greco, she apparently auditioned for his dancing troupe, barely missing the honor of joining his company. Their friendship continues today.

Cape is also visibly proud of the costumes for the production. "Eliza's one costume is estimated at a cost of $2,000," he commented, readily flashing a photo as evidence of the gorgeous gown to be worn during the production.

White tie and tails are optional wear for the "My Fair Lady" opening night at 7:30 tomorrow. The Michigan Scoliosis Foundation will be the benefactor of the $25 per person opening night tab. The Foundation will host a premier afterglow to celebrate what is expected to be a most successful opening.

"My Fair Lady" will tunefully glow at the O'Leary Auditorium with curtain time at 8 p.m. both Friday and Saturday and at 2:30 on Sunday, for two weekends, Sept. 12 through 14 and 19 through 21. Ticket prices are $8 for adults and $6 for children and senior citizens.

According to producer Cape, opening night $25 tickets are tax deductible items. Tickets are available at the O'Leary box office.

Huron Civic Theatre presents 'Death'

The Huron Civic Theatre will begin its third season by presenting Arthur Miller's Pulitzer Prize-winning drama "Death of a Salesman" at 8 p.m. Sept. 13, 14, and 21 in the Huron High School Auditorium, located at 32044 Huron River Drive in New Boston (across from Michigan Memorial Park). There will be a 3 p.m. matinee Sept. 22.

"Willy was a salesman . . . he's the man out there riding on a smile and a shoestring . . . A salesman has got to dream, boy. It comes with the territory."
From 'Death of a Salesman'

Jack Hassett of Trenton, one of the most versatile and best-known actors in the area, will portray Willy Loman, one of his all-time favorite roles. Hassett has performed this role previously for the Wyandotte Community Theatre, where he is a charter member. He has performed more than 35 different roles in his community theatre career. During the last two seasons he has appeared as Henry Drummond in "Inherit the Wind" and Benjamin Franklin in "1776" for the Huron Civic Theatre.

This production will also include Sue DeLosier as Linda, Conrad Szybisty as Biff, Joe Bellino, Jr. as Happy, Bill McCloskey as Uncle Ben, Pat McMahon as Charlie and Bart A. Burger as Bernard.

The drama revolves around a fading salesman, Willy Loman, who is described by the loyal friend Charley whom he has rejected many times as ". . . Willy was a salesman . . . he's the man out there riding on a smile and a shoestring . . . A salesman has got to dream, boy. It comes with the territory." Huron Civic Theatre is an activity of the extra-curricular fund raising efforts in the Huron School District. This is the third season of the group which has expanded this year to include four of their own productions along with four guest productions.

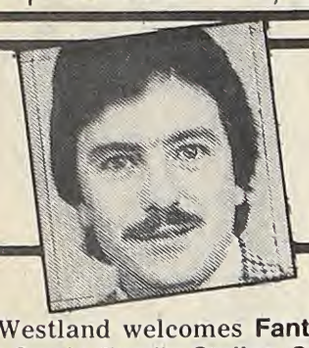

Tickets for the performances are $4.50 for adults and $3.50 for senior citizens and students.

Further information about the production or the group is available by phoning 782-1505 from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. weekdays.

Revco aids Lost Child Network

The Revco drug stores in Wayne and Westland have joined efforts with the Lost Child Network and the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children to help locate America's missing youngsters. The film processing center in Revco stores is the focal point for linking customers of the nation's largest drug store chain with this important public awareness program.

Revco is inserting the descriptions and pictures of lost or missing children in all processed film orders. Each month the flyers will carry photos of four children listed as missing by NCMEC in Washington, D.C., which maintains a toll-free number, 1-800-843-5678, for information about these children.

"Revco is concerned about the issue of child safety and sees the program as a natural vehicle to get this important information out to our communities," said Sidney Dworkin, Revco's chairman of the board and chief executive officer. It is estimated that one half million people each week will see the faces of missing children through this ongoing program.

"Our primary objective is to assist in protecting America's most precious resource – our children," Dworkin added. "We are pleased to get behind and participate in this worthwhile endeavor."

The flyers included in each bag of processed snapshots or slides will also provide safety tips for both parents and children on the problems of child abductions or runaways.

The program was developed by Guardian Photo, one of Revco's photofinishers, along with the Lost Child Network, a group of Kansas City area police officers. Guardian is assisting Revco's other photofinishers – Berkey, Colorcraft and Phototron – in preparing the flyers for distribution in their service areas.

in the limelight

Porzondek honored

Bernard Porzondek, new vehicle salesperson for Century Dodge Inc., Taylor, received an award for individual performance in selling Dodge vehicles.

A resident of Belleville, Porzondek has reached the Silver level of recognition in Dodge's unique Sales Professional Club.

Specially-designed incentives and awards are provided for outstanding product knowledge and sales achievement at three performance levels – Bronze, Silver and Gold. Membership in each level is determined by points earned for sales of new cars and trucks.

Defense contract awarded

Defense contracts are contributing to the economy of Romulus. The General Motors Corp. at 36501 Van Born Road, has received a contract to provide $96,291 worth of engine crankshafts for the U.S. military services. The large firm was awarded the contract by the Defense Construction Supply Center (DCSC) of Columbus, Ohio.

Brooks accepts new job

General Management Services (GMS) has appointed Kelly A. Brooks as marketing representative, a new position, according to GMS president James Roberts.

"Ms. Brooks has joined GMS to handle a number of accounts to fulfill their temporary help requirements," Roberts said.

A native of Garden City, Brooks was raised in Westland and graduated from Livonia Franklin High School. She also attended Schoolcraft College where she majored in business administration.

She served as a clerical assistant, light industrial supervisor and then recruiting supervisor for a temporary help firm in western Wayne County before joining GMS.

"Ms. Brooks will serve current clients as well as developing new customer accounts for GMS," Roberts said.

GMS, headquartered in Livonia, is a full service, temporary help firm serving Southeastern Michigan business and industry.

3. Card of Thanks

Novene to St. Jude
May the sacred heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred heart of Jesus pray for us. St. Jude worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude help of the hopeless pray for us. Say this prayer 9 times a day and by the 8th day your prayer will be answered. Publication and thanks must be published. Thank you St. Jude. G.

Prayer to the Holy Spirit
Holy Spirit. You who make me see everything, and who show me the way to reach my ideals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me. You who are in all the instances of my life with me, I in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank You for Your love towards me and my loved ones. Person must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after third day your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be, then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. E.M.
